

THE

CRUMB

Volume XXXIX, No. 1

Bread Loaf, Vermont

August 12, 1964

Middlebury College and the Conference welcome you to the Bread Loaf Writers' Conference. This bulletin, The Crumb, is the official newsletter of the Conference; each morning it will be left at your place in the Dining Hall. The Crumb contains daily schedules, any changes in the program, and other notices of interest to Conference members.

TONIGHT:

Tonight at 8:00 in the Little Theatre, Dr. James I. Armstrong, President of Middlebury College, will open the 1964 Conference. Mr. John Ciardi, Director of the Conference, will welcome Bread Loafers to the Mountain. Immediately afterwards a reception will be held in the Barn.

CONFERENCE ANNOUNCEMENTS:

All contributors' manuscripts should be turned in to Mr. Cubeta in the Director's office as soon as possible and not later than noon Thursday. Mr. Cubeta will take special note of any problems and requests. Mr. Ciardi and the staff will then try to solve the problems and to accommodate the requests. Since it will be necessary to have all manuscripts on hand before individual assignments are determined, no final action on assignments can be taken before Thursday afternoon.

THE PARKING PROBLEM:

The State Police enforce a highway law that prohibits parking on the road in front of the Inn and the several cottages. Guests are therefore urged to use the two parking areas on the campus: the main area in front of the Barn, or on the east side of the highway beyond Maple. The area in front of the Inn must be clear for the taxi and mail delivery; the area between the kitchen and the Theatre must also be kept free for unloading supplies.

NEWSPAPER SUBSCRIPTIONS:

Please contact Mr. Lynn Bicknell or any one else at the front desk about receiving a daily or Sunday newspaper while the Conference is in session. Some of the papers available are the New York Times, the New York Herald-Tribune, the Boston Herald, and the Burlington Free Press.

MESSAGES, CALLS, TELEGRAMS, ETC., ETC.:

Please check your post office box several times daily for notices, telegrams, calls, and so forth. Some of the dormitories have no direct phone connections, and a note in your mail box is our only means of communication with you.

REMINDER:

Please do not make long distance phone calls from your dormitories. A pay station for outside calls is located downstairs in the Inn in the entry way to the Bookstore.

LECTURES AND DISCUSSIONS:

9:00	Novel: "Second Person Singular"	Mr. Sloane
10:15	Short Story	Miss Hale
11:30	Poetry	Mr. Ciardi
2:00	Non-fiction	Mr. Raney
3:15	Juvenile	Miss Blake

EVENING LECTURE:

Mr. Dan Wakefield will speak at 8:00 p.m. this evening in the Little Theatre on "Advice from Thoreau."

DINING ROOM REMINDER FROM THE DIRECTOR'S OFFICE:

The dining room doors are open from 8:00 until 8:30 a.m., 1:00 to 1:15 p.m., and 6:15 to 6:30 p.m. The doors will be closed promptly and firmly, and no one--staff, fellows, conference members, or guests--will be admitted thereafter under any circumstances. The waiters and waitresses are all carefully selected and especially valued members of this Conference, and it is important that they have time to finish their work and still get to the lectures. Anyone who arrives too late to be seated in the dining hall will be able to get a snack in the Barn. When the doors close, do not head for the complaint desk--head for the Barn.

MAGAZINE DISPLAY:

A large collection of magazines of all kinds is on display in the Barn; this has been assembled for the pleasure of the entire Conference, and it is therefore urged that copies not be removed from the Barn.

LAUNDRY AND DRY CLEANING:

Laundry and dry cleaning go out on Wednesday and are returned on Saturday. Please register and pick up laundry and dry cleaning at the front desk.

FROM THE BOOKSTORE:

- (1) Members of the Conference are cordially invited to browse in the Bread Loaf Bookstore during "office" hours.
- (2) Members of the Conference who buy books in the Bookstore and wish to have them autographed by the authors, may leave them with the Bookstore Manager to be picked up at a later date.
- (3) If you don't see what you need in the Bookstore, ask for it. Bread Loaf is supplied from downtown in Middlebury, and the Manager will be glad to get what you need carried up the mountain.

TIME

CRIMINALS

Volume XXXIX, No. 3

Bread Loaf, Vermont

August 14, 1964

LECTURES AND DISCUSSIONS:

9:00 Non-fiction

10:15 Poetry

11:30 Short Story

2:00 Novel

3:15 Children's Poetry (McCord, Ciardi, Pack)

Mr. Brower

Mr. Pack

Miss Jackson

Mr. Elkin

Miss Blake

TONIGHT'S SPECIAL EVENT:

Mr. Howard Nemerov will hold forth in the Little Theatre this evening at 8:00 p.m.; he has given much thought to the title of his presentation and will announce his subject on the podium.

WEEKEND ABSENCES:

Those who are to be away from the campus (there are always a few) over the weekend should sign the list posted on the bulletin board by the Main Desk, leaving a forwarding address in case of emergency. Those who will be absent from any meals (a smaller group than the former) during the weekend should also sign.

CHURCH SERVICES THIS WEEKEND:

It is customary, even traditional for car owners to offer transportation for those without cars to go to church services in Middlebury on Sunday. A list will be posted on the dining-room bulletin board for those who wish to offer rides. Persons seeking transportation should get in touch with those who have signed on the church list. The times for church services will be posted on the dining-room bulletin board Friday evening. Remember that OUR LEADER, in his opening remarks Wednesday evening, urged you to attend the church of your choice--don't disappoint him.

NEWSPAPERS:

Mr. Lynn Bicknell is accepting subscription orders for various daily and Sunday newspapers at the front desk and is delighted to accept your patronage. Newspapers normally arrive in the morning mail and are crammed into the subscriber's mailbox; Mr. Bicknell takes it upon himself to scurry down the mountain and pick them up if the mailman hasn't delivered them.

BOOKSTORE NOTES:

Books that have been left to be autographed may be picked up three or four days later, provided that the Bookstore Manager can persuade the authors to sit down and write a word or two--you know what OUR LEADER said about writing during the Conference.

HIKING:

The Front Desk has maps and information on the many trails in the area. Some hikes are long enough to be called "Walk it offs" and appropriately begin near Treman; for hardier souls there are longer jaunts, including a rugged affair along the Long Trail and over the mountain range.

'T'HE

CRUINN

Volume XXXIX, No. 4

Bread Loaf, Vermont

August 15, 1964

LECTURES AND DISCUSSIONS:

9:00 Poetry
10:15 Novel
11:30 Non-fiction
2:00 Juvenile
3:15 Short Story

Mr. McCord
Miss Jackson
Mr. Wakefield
Miss Blake
Mr. Elkin

TONIGHT'S SPECIAL EVENT:

Miss Nancy Hale will speak this evening at 8:00 p.m. in the Little Theatre on "A Fiction Writer Faces Facts."

A REQUEST:

It would be appreciated if latecomers to lectures use the doors at the rear of the Little Theatre rather than those at the sides--late entrances there are less disturbing because less noisy.

GUESTS:

The large enrollment in the Conference makes it impossible for Conference members to have guests in the dining room or overnight in the dormitories.

CHECK CASHING:

Noon, Monday, August 17, is the closing hour for cashing personal checks. After that time, only travellers' checks, cashier's checks, or certified checks will be cashed.

FÊTE CHAMPÊTRE:

There will be a picnic lunch on the lawn west of the Little Theatre today, weather permitting.

OVER THE WEEKEND:

During the English School, your editor devoted an issue a week to what he jocularly called a "Gigantic Weekend Entertainment Guide." The English students being a rather dull group, he felt it was necessary to tell them of such activities. He has found that the members of the Conference need no such announcements, for they have a surprising ability to provide their own entertainment--therefore, he will do an about face and recommend something intellectual for the weekend. In the vicinity are three used book stores that have plenty of copies of Owen Meredith's Lucile, novels by Winston Churchill, and many sets of Scott's collected works--all things that a budding new writer must have by his or her bedside. Interested members will find these stores in Rutland and Pittsford on Route 7 going south from East Middlebury; the other store is a short piece down the mountain on Route 125 in East Middlebury. There are also plays and things going on somewhere in the 100-mile radius, but you shouldn't stray too far from inspiration and inebriation.

THIS AFTERNOON:

At two o'clock this afternoon in the Little Theatre Mr. John Ciardi, professor turned poet, will speak on "The Teaching of Poetry." All teachers of English are especially invited. There will be a question period after Mr. Ciardi's talk.

TONIGHT'S SPECIAL EVENT:

Tonight at 8:00 p.m. in the Little Theatre Mr. David McCord will speak on "A Bucket of Bees."

A POEM FOUND BY THE EDITOR THIS MORNING ON HIS CLUTTERED DESK:

The staff at Bread Loaf dwell apart;

With us they do not bother.

But I still I note

They always dote

On hearing one another.

Anon.

AN UNUSUAL REQUEST:

Lost: one moose tooth, $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches long; irreplaceable, invaluable, of deep sentimental meaning--any information, contact your nearest moose or leave a note in Box 105.

SUNDAY PAPERS:

Sunday papers for subscribers arrive about 10:30 a.m. and are placed some time afterwards on the table near the post office boxes; subscribers' names will be written on each newspaper.

HIKES:

The Front Office regrets that the hiking map supply dwindled and disappeared the other day, and the editor of The Crumb was designated to provide a new supply. Having found the stencil and having cranked up the ancient mimeograph machine, the editor is happy to announce that there are some 500 copies of the trail map in the Front Office. Unfortunately he could not find the stencil for the hiking information sheet, so hardy souls will have to be content for a while with mere strolls until a stencil can be cut for hiking information.

THE

CRUMBS

Volume XXXIX, No. 6

Bread Loaf, Vermont

August 17, 1964

LECTURES AND DISCUSSIONS:

9:00	Non-fiction	Mr. Wakefield
10:15	Novel	Mr. Sloane
11:30	Poetry	Mr. Nemerov
2:00	Short Story	Miss Hale
3:15	Children's Poetry (McCord, Ciardi, Pack)	Miss Blake

TONIGHT'S SPECIAL EVENT:

In the Little Theatre tonight at 8:00 p.m. Mr. Brock Brower will deliver a talk, "A Re-appraisal of Folly."

A COMMENT ON THE POEM WHICH APPEARED IN VOLUME XXXIX, NO. 5 (AUGUST 16):

The loaf is good, the slices thick,

The bakers tops -- no question:

Admitted -- it's the staff of life

But let's not get indigestion.

Anon. 2

(Dear readers, does this exchange of poems, if such it be, portend a twentieth-century Poetomachia, a battle to the death to be enacted here at Bread Loaf? The Editor proposes that the meadow across from the Inn be used for such a fearsome encounter, with Robert Pack, the Middlebury meter-maker, encamped with his forces around Treman (on the east end of the meadow); Howard Nemerov, the Bennington balladeer, will assemble his forces near Brandy Brook (the west end); and David McCord, the Harvard hexametrists, will march up from the river. Mr. Ray will serve as second to Mr. Pack, Mr. Eide will side with Mr. Nemerov and employ classical Chinese military tactics, and Mr. Elkin has graciously consented to serve the Harvard cause and threatens to hurl copies of his Thomistic work at the opponents. Each party is to offer one sestina, one haiku, and five Horatian imitations; Mr. Fredson Bowers will act as judge, but his decisions will not be final--the side that makes the most noise will win; the defeated parties will forfeit all poetic ambitions and switch to writing TV commercials. Anyone interested in participating should contact the Editor-- photographers will be encouraged.)

A FINAL REMINDER:

Today at noon is the final hour for cashing personal checks. After this time neither the Front Office nor the banks in Middlebury will cash any personal checks.

Volume XXXIX, No. 7

Bread Loaf, Vermont

August 18, 1964

LECTURES AND DISCUSSIONS:

9:00 Short Story
 10:15 Non-fiction
 11:30 Poetry
 2:00 Novel

Mr. Elkin
 Mr. Brower
 Mr. Pack
 Mr. Sloane

THIS AFTERNOON'S SPECIAL EVENT:

This afternoon at 3:15 p.m. in the Little Theatre Mr. Fredson Bowers will talk on "Tragic Reconciliation: Shakespeare's Hamlet."

THIS EVENING'S SPECIAL EVENT:

Mr. Stanley Elkin will speak on "Morality and the Endings of Novels" tonight at 8:00 p.m. in the Little Theatre.

A CURT REMINDER:

The Dining Hall door closes at 8:30 a.m., 1:15 p.m., and 6:30 p.m., and if you arrive late, you are to head for the Snack Bar in the Barn. Sneaking inside after the door is closed can lead only to unpleasant incidents.

FÊTE CHAMPÊTRE NO. 2:

The first invitational tea will be held at 4:15 this afternoon at Fritz Cottage; this cottage is located to the west of the Main Inn, just before the Printer's Cabin; if any further identification is necessary, one can note that it is the headquarters of the three Ciardi children. Hostesses for tomorrow's garden party are Mrs. Ciardi and Mrs. Cubeta. If the weather is bad, Ed Kessler has grudgingly consented (upon the threat of his work being published in The Crumb) to open the Library and show everyone that there are some books besides those in the Bookstore; he will act as a third tea-pourer if the weather is inclement. Those who did not receive an invitation for this afternoon will be welcomed tomorrow at the same time and same place. These teas give everyone a chance to meet the Staff and the Fellows -- but please refrain from feeding them.

AN UNSOLICITED CONTRIBUTION:

Poem

The conferees they like to breeze
 About the staff's seclusion.

"This conference just makes no sense
 Unless there's more collusion"
 The conferees with sullen stares
 Conclude their own conclusion.

In confidence I question whence
 This wrath the wroth are feeding.
 If the staff's shut away just what
 Do you suppose it's reading?

J. Ciardi

NOTE TO MMM ET AL.: Today is Tuesday.

LECTURES AND DISCUSSIONS:

9:00 Non-fiction
10:15 Poetry
11:30 Novel
2:00 Short Story

Mr. Raney
Mr. Nemerov
Miss Hale
Miss Jackson

THIS AFTERNOON'S SPECIAL EVENT:

Mr. William Hazlett Upson, long-time Bread Loaf resident and staff member, author of the hilarious Botts series, and champion of things Vermontish, will speak at 3:15 p.m. in the Little Theatre on a topic of great interest: "Short Stories: How Do You Sell 'Em and What Do You Get?"

THIS EVENING'S SPECIAL EVENT:

Mr. Dudley Fitts, long-time staff member, noted classicist, and translator, will speak this evening at 8:00 p.m. in the Little Theatre.

NOTICE:

No hot coffee can be served at lunch.

A SPECIALLY PLANNED BREAD LOAF EXCURSION:

If enough people (20-30) show an interest, there will be a bus sent to the Shelburne Museum (about an hour and a quarter drive from Bread Loaf) on Sunday, August 23. The bus would leave the Inn at 9:00 a.m. and return in time for the evening meal. A midday snack could be picked up on the grounds of the Museum. The entrance fee at the Museum is $2.50. A reasonable fee of about $1.50 to get a seat on the bus will be collected. The means of transportation (a school bus) won't be equal to the cushiness of Vermont Transit, but it will do. A definite charge for the bus ride will be announced at departure and will depend greatly upon the number of people who sign up. If interested, please sign the sheet posted on the bulletin board outside the dining room. Please sign the sheet before 3:00 p.m. Friday, August 21, so that an announcement can be made at the Friday evening meal as to the decision. Information about the Shelburne is posted with the sign-up sheet.

(Today is Wednesday)

TWO POEMS FOUND BY THE EDITOR:

(I) If I had the wit of our Editor,
I shouldn't be here as an Auditor,
I'd spend my time in glorious ease
Living on my royalties.

Instead I labor ode and sonnet;
My bread has no "Blue Bonnet on it";
Rejection slips pile up and yellow;
Oh, to be young and a Bread Loaf Fellow!

D.G.

(II) I do not know why conferees
Should earnestly attempt to squeeze
Into the hive of Bread Loaf bees;
For by their presence they might freeze
The divers creativities. Conferee

'THEE

CRUMB

Volume XXXIX, No. 9

Bread Loaf, Vermont

August 20, 1964

TODAY'S SCHEDULE (CLINICS):

9:00 a.m.	Novel	Mr. Sloane
10:30 a.m.	Poetry	Messrs. Nemerov, Pack, and Ciardi
2:00 p.m.	Short Story	Misses Hale and Jackson

(PLEASE NOTE TIME CHANGES FROM YESTERDAY)

A SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT:

The 3:30 poetry clinic this afternoon (yes, today is Thursday) will be eliminated because of the Frost dedication at Ripton, details of which were announced at last evening's lecture before Mr. Fitts' talk.

A SPECIAL EVENT THIS AFTERNOON:

Mr. John Ciardi will discuss the poetry of Dante this afternoon at 4:30 p.m. in the Little Theatre. Mr. Ciardi has published translations of the Inferno and the Purgatorio.

TONIGHT'S SPECIAL EVENT:

Mr. Robert Pack will read from and discuss his poetry tonight at 8:00 p.m. in the Little Theatre.

A NOTE ON BOOKS BY BREAD LOAF FELLOWS:

The Vermont Book Shop in Middlebury has for sale books by several of the Bread Loaf Fellows, including Jerome Charyn's Once Upon a Droszky, a novel, Romulus Linney's Heathen Valley, a novel, and Russell Mead's If a Heart Rings -- Answer, a novel.

A NOTE TO ALL CONTRIBUTORS (TO THE CRUMB, THAT IS):

The Editor has been swamped with contributions from Bread Loafers who are obviously not heeding the advice of an opening lecture: "Don't try to write when you're up here." No doubt the prospect of seeing one's own production in print has stirred many of you, and the Editor will attempt to publish all contributions, provided they are of some interest and not overly scatological. He would like to use the contributions to stretch out the often meager news items that he receives, and hence he is unable to put in each contribution the day that he receives it -- much as he would like to. Therefore, he exhorts dismayed contributors who are fearful of complete rejection by every publication in the country to be of good cheer -- you'll see your product in print. If necessary, the Editor will even add a page or so one fine day and call it a "Bread Loaf Garland" or some cloyingly saccharine "poetic" name; he begs to inform the Writers' Conference that during the English school he did a complete box score of each Sunday's doubleheader on Monday and one day even went to four pages -- he will be glad to do as much for the Writers' Conference, minus the box score.

THE

CIRCUITS

Volume XXXIX, No. 10

Bread Loaf, Vermont

August 21, 1964

TODAY'S SCHEDULE (CLINICS):

9:00 a.m. Non-fiction

Messrs. Brower, Wakefield, and Raney

10:30 a.m. Short Story

Miss Hale

2:00 p.m. Novel

Miss Jackson and Mr. Elkin

3:30 p.m. Poetry

Messrs. Pack, McCord, and Ciardi

TONIGHT'S SPECIAL EVENT:

Mr. Theodore Morrison, former Director of the Bread Loaf Writers' Conference, poet, and novelist, will speak this evening at 8:00 p.m. in the Little Theatre on "A Little Concert of Choice Variations in Prose."

NOTE TO CONFEREES:

Every year at this time the Front Office asks conferees to tell us how and when they are leaving; every year most people return the information in a day or so, but there are always a few people who never bother to tell us anything and then show up on Wednesday morning fully expecting to be taken to the bus in Middlebury, Rutland, Brattleboro, or somewhere else. If you turn in your departure slip promptly, the Front Office can plan with Vermont Transit to supply extra buses at the Middlebury bus station on Tuesday or Wednesday; if we know how many people want to make a particular bus in Middlebury, we can possibly arrange for an express trip from Middlebury to New York, which would cut the time to New York by $1\frac{1}{2}$ hours. There is also a possibility of a special bus running directly from Bread Loaf to New York (at the Port Authority Terminal) if enough people are interested. But, first of all, please return the information slip below to the Front Office. Thank you.

NAME _____

DEPARTURE DATE _____

METHOD OF TRAVEL TO MIDDLEBURY:

PRIVATE CAR _____

BUS _____

WHAT CONNECTIONS DO YOU HAVE TO MEET? _____

'T'HE

(CRUMBS)

Volume XXXIX, No. 11 Bread Loaf, Vermont

August 22, 1964

TODAY'S SCHEDULE (CLINICS):

9:00 a.m.	Short Story	Mr. Elkin
10:30 a.m.	Poetry	Messrs. Pack, Nemerov, and McCord
2:00 p.m.	Juvenile	Miss Blake
3:30 p.m.	The Editor	Mrs. Molony, Messrs. Sloane and Raney

TONIGHT'S SPECIAL EVENT:

Miss Shirley Jackson will speak this evening at 8:00 p.m. in the Little Theatre; the title of her talk will be announced at that time on the podium.

THIS AFTERNOON:

We'll try again, folks. Weather permitting, there will be a picnic at lunch time this afternoon on west lawn by the Little Theatre.

SERENDIPITY:

(To Freda at Bread Loaf)

It's not the thing
To prate ~~or~~ sing
Of flowers that bloom unseen,
To open doors
By metaphors
Hunting an inner spleen.

But even yet,
The scribe -- I'll bet --
Who's eating oyster stew
And finds his tongue
Some pearls among
Will make a great to-do!

S.J.

'T'HE

(CRUINI)

Volume XXXIX, No. 11

Bread Loaf, Vermont

August 23, 1964

TODAY'S SCHEDULE:

- (1) This afternoon at 2:00 p.m. in the Little Theatre Mr. David McCord will discuss light verse.
- (2) Mr. John Ciardi will speak this evening at 8:00 p.m. in the Little Theatre on "Purity and Impurity."

A NOTE FROM THE BOOKSTORE:

Of course the friendly Bread Loaf Bookstore is closed today (this is Sunday), but tomorrow, bright and early, the Manager will open the doors and sell all remaining books at a discount. He hasn't decided yet what the discount will be, but his mind will be made up by Monday morning. Unfortunately, purchasing a book at a discount at this late date will make it impossible for the book to be signed. Incidentally, those people with signed books in the Bookstore should pick them up as soon as possible.

THE GIRL WHO SANG THE CHILLIES:

The glaciers came once long ago
And now they're coming back, I know!
I knew not that they'd come so soon,
They'll be here by tomorrow noon!

I asked the man who sang the sillies
What could we do about the chillies:
"Just put on you lederhosen;
Many are cold, but few are frozen."

Anon. Fiction Group

THE

CRUMB

Volume XXXIX, No. 12

Bread Loaf, Vermont

August 24, 1964

TODAY'S SCHEDULE (CLINICS):

9:00 a.m.	Poetry	Messrs. McCord and Nemerov
10:30 a.m.	Short Story	Miss Jackson
2:00 p.m.	Novel	Mr. Sloane
3:30 p.m.	Non-fiction	Messrs. Brower and Wakefield

TONIGHT'S SPECIAL EVENT:

Mr. Charles Feinberg, co-editor of Walt Whitman Review, and one of the foremost authorities on Whitman, will speak this evening at 8:00 p.m. in the Little Theatre on "Walt Whitman's Difficulties with Publishers and Booksellers."

SOME NOTES FROM THE BREAD LOAF MANAGEMENT:

- (1) Tips for the waiters may be placed in the box in the Dining hall. Tips for the maids may be given personally or left in an enveloped marked, for example, "Maid, 1st Floor Treman," with the front office.
- (2) Contact the front office about REA service; parcels and luggage are shipped collect.
- (3) The taxi driver reminds everyone that you must leave Bread Loaf at least 25 minutes before the Greyhound or Vermont Transit bus is scheduled to depart from Middlebury.
- (4) We needed a minimum of 32 people for a charter bus -- we came nowhere near this, so there will be no Bread Loaf charter.

A CHANCE TO SEE A RARE SIGHT:

The Bread Loaf staff, fellows, and scholars will assemble after lunch today on the porch of the Little Theatre, rain or shine, for the annual immortality bit. The official photographer will be in evidence, and amateurs are encouraged to join him in snapping the established and budding writers.

FROM THE LIBRARY (IT'S THE BUILDING DOWN WIND FROM THE THEATRE):

Please return all books borrowed by tomorrow (Tuesday).

A PLEA FROM MMM:

If the name of anyone at the Conference has been inadvertently omitted from the Address List (or incorrectly noted), Mrs. Molony in the Director's Secretary's office will appreciate being informed.

GIGANTIC BOOK SALE:

The congenial Bookstore Manager will open the doors wide at 8:30 this very morning to sell any and all books left at a gigantic, unbelievable 20% off. Sorry, he cannot guarantee that the books will get autographed, but he'll do his damndest. The Bookstore will not be open from 12:15 to 1:00 this afternoon so that the Manager can meet his publisher, who was so impressed with the copies of The Crumb presented to him this weekend in NYC that he is coming to Vermont tomorrow to wave advance checks in the Manager's face. The Bookstore will be open after dinner this evening to sell, sell, sell.

THE

CRUINN

Volume XXXIX, No. 13

Bread Loaf, Vermont

August 25, 1964

TODAY'S SCHEDULE (CLINICS):

9:00 a.m.	Juvenile	Miss Blake
10:30 a.m.	Novel	Mr. Raney
2:00 p.m.	Poetry	Messrs. Ciardi, Pack, Nemerov, and McCord
3:30 p.m.	Short Story	Miss Hale

BANQUET TONIGHT:

To highlight the last evening of the Conference a banquet will be held this evening at 6:30 p.m. (Groups who wish to reserve tables should speak to the headwaiter, Mr. Roland Dale, at noon.) The dining hall door will be opened at 6:25 and closed promptly at 6:30, so PLEASE be on time.

After dinner we will adjourn to the Little Theatre for the FINAL CLINIC.

BOOKS BORROWED:

Return books from the Library to Mr. Edward Kessler today, please.

SAFETY DEPOSIT:

Please withdraw your cash, coupons, or what have you from the Front Office by noon today (Tuesday).

NEWSPAPERS:

Today is the last day of newspaper subscriptions.

MEALS ON WEDNESDAY:

Breakfast will be served only at 7:30 a.m., and lunch will be served only at 11:20 a.m. The usual 15 minute period of the open door policy will be eliminated, so you'll have to be on time.

FROM THE BOOKSTORE:

There are a few books left in the Bookstore, and you can snap them up at 20% off. Plenty of books have been signed, so you should drop by to see what happened to the ones you left to be signed. We'll stay open tomorrow morning for an hour or so, if there's anything on the shelves left to be sold. Any books left to be signed that are not picked up by quitting time Wednesday could very well become additions to the Manager's expanding library.